INTRODUCTION

1.1 Rationale

The skills of reading, writing, speaking, and listening are of vital importance in many areas. Not only are they essential in many careers, they also underpin successful study at all levels, and a proficiency in them can also add immeasurably to an individual's general quality of life. This specification is designed to aid and assess such development, and to encourage learners to be inspired, moved and changed by following a broad, coherent, satisfying and worthwhile course of study. It will prepare learners to make informed decisions about further learning opportunities and career choices and to use language to participate effectively in society and employment.

Different forms of assessment are appropriate to these different skills and this is recognised in this specification. Reading and Writing are assessed through controlled assessment and in two externally marked units. Speaking and Listening are assessed in a variety of different situations during the course.

GCSE Subject Criteria for English Language require that learners become critical readers of a range of texts, including multimodal texts and at least one extended text. These requirements are met by this specification.

GCSE Subject Criteria for English Language require learners to write accurately and fluently, choosing content and adapting style and language to a wide range of forms, media, contexts, audiences and purposes. These requirements are met by this specification.

GCSE Subject Criteria for English Language require that in speaking and listening learners present and listen to information and ideas; respond appropriately to the questions and views of others; make a range of effective contributions, using creative approaches to exploring questions, solving problems and developing ideas; participate in a range of real life contexts in and beyond the classroom, adapting talk to situation and audience and using standard English where appropriate; select and use a range of techniques and creative approaches to explore ideas, texts and issues in scripted and improvised work. These requirements are met by this specification.

1.2 Aims and Learning Outcomes

Following a course in GCSE English Language should encourage learners to be inspired, moved and changed by following a broad, coherent, satisfying and worthwhile course of study. It should prepare learners to make informed decisions about further learning opportunities and career choices; and to use language to participate effectively in society and employment.

It should encourage learners to:

- demonstrate skills in speaking, listening, reading and writing necessary to communicate with others confidently, effectively, precisely and appropriately
- express themselves creatively and imaginatively
- become critical readers of a range of texts, including multimodal texts
- use reading to develop their own skills as writers
- understand the patterns, structures and conventions of written and spoken English
- understand the impact of variations in spoken and written language and how they relate to identity and cultural diversity
- select and adapt speech and writing to different situations and audiences.

1.3 Prior Learning and Progression

Although there is no specific requirement for prior learning, this specification builds upon the Programmes of Study for English in Key Stages 1-3.

This specification may be followed by any candidate, irrespective of their gender, ethnic, religious or cultural background. This specification is not age-specific and, as such, provides opportunities for candidates to extend their life-long learning.

1.4 Equality and Fair Assessment

GCSEs often require assessment of a broad range of competences. This is because they are general qualifications and, as such, prepare candidates for a wide range of occupations and higher level courses.

The revised GCSE qualification and subject criteria have been reviewed to identify whether any of the competences required by the subject presented a potential barrier to any disabled candidates. If this was the case, the situation was reviewed again to ensure that such competences were included only where essential to the subject. The findings of this process were discussed with disability groups and with disabled people.

Reasonable adjustments are made for disabled candidates in order to enable them to access the assessments. For this reason, very few candidates will have a complete barrier to any part of the assessment. Information on reasonable adjustments is found in the Joint Council for Qualifications document Regulations and Guidance Relating to Candidates who are eligible for Adjustments in Examinations. This document is available on the JCQ website (www.jcq.org.uk).

Depending on the severity of the disability, it may not be possible for candidates with speech or hearing impairment to meet the criteria for the assessment of speaking and listening skills. Depending on the degree of the disability, it may not be possible for candidates with visual impairment to meet the criteria for the assessment of independent reading.

Candidates who are still unable to access a significant part of the assessment, even after exploring all possibilities through reasonable adjustments, may still be able to receive an award. They would be given a grade on the parts of the assessment they have taken and there would be an indication on their certificate that not all of the competences have been addressed. This will be kept under review and may be amended in future.

1.5 Classification Codes

Every specification is assigned a national classification code indicating the subject area to which it belongs. The classification code for this specification is 5010.

Centres should be aware that candidates who enter for more than one GCSE qualification with the same classification code will have only one grade (the highest) counted for the purpose of the School and College Performance Tables.

Centres may wish to advise candidates that, if they take two specifications with the same classification code, schools and colleges are very likely to take the view that they have achieved only one of the two GCSEs. The same view may be taken if candidates take two GCSE specifications that have different classification codes but have significant overlap of content. Candidates who have any doubts about their subject combinations should check with the institution to which they wish to progress before embarking on their programmes.

1.6 Entry Regulations for GCSE English, English Language and English Literature

The following conditions apply to the entry and reporting arrangements for these subjects:

- Candidates entered for GCSE English may not be entered at the same series for either GCSE English Language or GCSE English Literature.

England

- In England pre-16 candidates entered for GCSE English Language must also be entered for GCSE English Literature. (Achievement in English Language will only be included in performance tables that record the achievement of 5 or more GCSEs including English and Mathematics if students are also entered for English Literature.)

Wales

- GCSE English is not available in Wales. Centres can meet the statutory requirements fully through entering pre-16 candidates for both GCSE English Language and GCSE English Literature. For the minority of candidates entered only for GCSE English Language, centres should ensure their taught curriculum fulfils statutory requirements.

Northern Ireland

- GCSE English is not available in Northern Ireland. Centres can meet the statutory requirements fully through entering pre-16 candidates for both GCSE English Language and GCSE English Literature. For the minority of candidates entered only for GCSE English Language, centres should ensure their taught curriculum fulfils statutory requirements.

2

CONTENT

The content of courses must be sufficiently varied to elicit the skills listed as assessment objectives for Speaking and Listening, Reading and Writing and must reflect the learning outcomes.

It must:

- promote an integrated approach to speaking and listening, reading, and writing.
- allow learners to develop their knowledge, skills and understanding of language and its use as specified below.

Studying Language

It must require learners to:

- engage with and make fresh connections between ideas, texts, words and images
- analyse spoken and written language, exploring impact and how it is achieved
- understand how spoken language and written language evolve in response to changes in society and technology and how this process relates to identity and cultural diversity.

In studying written language it must require learners to:

- understand how meaning is constructed through words, sentences and whole texts, including multimodal texts and at least one extended text, recognising the effects of language choices and patterns
- evaluate the ways in which texts may be interpreted differently according to the perspective of the reader
- explore language variation and how it varies according to audience and reader.

In studying spoken language it must require learners to:

- reflect and comment critically on their own and others' uses of language in different contexts and how they adapt language to different listeners and tasks, exploring these experiences in the contexts of wider language use and variation
- understand attitudes towards standard and non-standard forms of language and how they vary over time and place
- analyse the characteristics and influences on spoken language.

Using language

It must require learners to:

- demonstrate an understanding of the conventions of written language, including grammar, spelling and punctuation
- experiment with language to create effects to engage the audience
- express ideas and information clearly, precisely, accurately and appropriately in spoken and written communication
- form independent views and challenge what is heard or read on the grounds of reason, evidence or argument.

In writing, it must require learners to:

- write accurately and fluently, choosing content and adapting style and language to a wide range of forms, media, contexts, audiences and purposes.

In speaking and listening it must require learners to:

- present and listen to information and ideas
- respond appropriately to the questions and views of others
- make a range of effective contributions, using creative approaches to exploring questions, solving problems and developing ideas
- reflect and comment critically on their own and others' uses of language
- participate in a range of real life contexts in and beyond the classroom, adapting talk appropriately to situation and audience
- Select and use a range of dramatic techniques and creative approaches to explore ideas, texts and issues in scripted and improvised work.

ASSESSMENT

3.1 Scheme of Assessment

WRITTEN PAPER 20% (1 hour)⁴	Jan / June
Unit 1: Studying written language - non-fiction texts	(40 Raw Marks; 40 UMS)
This unit will test through structured questions the reading of two non-fiction texts. Non-fiction texts may include: fact-sheets, leaflets, letters, extracts from autobiographies, biographies, diaries, advertisements, reports, articles and digital and multi-modal texts of various kinds from newspapers and magazines, brochures and the internet. Visual material will always be included in the material used.

WRITTEN PAPER 20% (1 hour)⁵	Jan / June
Unit 2: Using written language - information and ideas	(40 Raw Marks; 40 UMS)
This unit will test transactional and discursive writing through two equally weighted tasks (20 marks each). Across the two tasks candidates will be offered opportunities to write for a range of audiences and purposes, adapting style to form and real-life context in, for example, letters, articles, leaflets, reviews etc.

CONTROLLED ASSESSMENT 30%	Jan / June
Unit 3: Literary reading and creative writing	(80 Raw Marks; 60 UMS)
Studying written language: extended literary text (15%)
Candidates need to present one assignment which is a sustained response to an extended text. The text must either be a Shakespeare play or one chosen from the GCSE English Literature external assessment set text lists excluding poetry.
Using language: creative writing (15%)
Candidates will be required to complete ONE piece of descriptive writing and ONE piece of narrative/expressive writing drawn from tasks supplied by WJEC.

⁴ Common paper with GCSE English

⁵ Common paper with GCSE English

CONTROLLED ASSESSMENT 30%	Jan / June
Unit 4: Spoken language	(60 Raw Marks; 60 UMS)
Using Language: Speaking and Listening (Communicating and adapting language; interacting and responding; creating and sustaining roles) (20%) ⁶
Candidates will be required to complete at least three Speaking and Listening tasks through the exploration of ideas, texts and issues in scripted and improvised work. The three tasks will cover the following areas:
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Communicating and adapting language • Interacting and responding • Creating and sustaining roles
Studying spoken language: Variations, choices, change in spoken language (10%)
Candidates will be required to study an aspect of spoken language. The assignment will be a sustained response to their own or others' uses of spoken language presented by recording, transcript or recollection.

Assessment for GCSE English Language is tiered, i.e. externally assessed components/units are targeted at the grade ranges of A*-D (Higher Tier) and C-G (Foundation Tier), while controlled assessments cater for the full range of ability. Questions and tasks will be designed to enable candidates to demonstrate what they know, understand and can do.

Tier	Grades Available
Higher	A*, A, B, C, D
Foundation	C, D, E, F, G

Candidates who narrowly fail to achieve Grade D on the Higher Tier will be awarded Grade E.

3.2 Assessment Objectives

Candidates will be required to demonstrate their ability to:

AO1 Speaking and Listening

- Speak to communicate clearly and purposefully; structure and sustain talk, adapting it to different situations and audiences; use standard English and a variety of techniques as appropriate
- Listen and respond to speakers' ideas, perspectives and how they construct and express their meanings
- Interact with others, shaping meanings through suggestions, comments and questions and drawing ideas together
- Create and sustain different roles

⁶ Also assessed in GCSE English

AO2 Studying spoken language

- Understand variations in spoken language, explaining why language changes in relation to contexts
- Evaluate the impact of spoken language choices in their own and others' use.

AO3 Studying written language

- Read and understand texts, selecting material appropriate to purpose, collating from different sources and making comparisons and cross-references as appropriate
- Develop and sustain interpretations of writers' ideas and perspectives
- Explain and evaluate how writers use linguistic, grammatical, structural and presentational features to achieve effects and engage and influence the reader
- Understand texts in their social, cultural and historical contexts

AO4 Writing

- Write to communicate clearly, effectively and imaginatively, using and adapting forms and selecting vocabulary appropriate to task and purpose in ways which engage the reader
- Organise information and ideas into structured and sequenced sentences, paragraphs and whole texts, using a variety of linguistic and structural features to support cohesion and overall coherence
- Use a range of sentence structures for clarity, purpose and effect, with accurate punctuation and spelling

One third of the available credit is allocated to this last part of AO4.

The weighting of assessment objectives across examination components is as follows:

	AO1	AO2	AO3	AO4	Total
Unit 1			20%		20%
Unit 2				20%	20%
Unit 3			15%	15%	30%
Unit 4	20%	10%			30%
Total	20%	10%	35%	35%	100%

AWARDING, REPORTING AND RE-SITTING

GCSE qualifications are reported on an eight point scale from A* to G, where A* is the highest grade. The attainment of pupils who do not succeed in reaching the lowest possible standard to achieve a grade is recorded as U (unclassified) and they do not receive a certificate.

This is a unitised specification which allows for an element of staged assessment. Units may be re-taken once only (with the better result counting) before aggregation for the subject award. However, at least 40% of the assessment must be taken at the end of the course, to satisfy the requirement for terminal assessment, and the results from that terminal assessment must contribute to the subject award. Therefore, any previous results for the unit(s) that are being used to satisfy the requirement for 40% terminal assessment cannot contribute to the subject award, even if they are better than the results achieved at the end of the course.

Results for a unit have a shelf-life limited only by the shelf-life of the specification. A candidate may retake the whole qualification more than once.

Individual unit results are reported on a uniform mark scale (UMS) with the following grade equivalences:

GRADE	MAX.	A*	A	B	C	D	E	F	G
Unit 1	40	36	32	28	24	20	16	12	8
Unit 2	40	36	32	28	24	20	16	12	8
Unit 3	60	54	48	42	36	30	24	18	12
Unit 4	60	54	48	42	36	30	24	18	12
Subject Award	200	180	160	140	120	100	80	60	40

ADMINISTRATION OF CONTROLLED ASSESSMENT

Regulations for controlled assessment are defined for the three stages of the assessment:

- task setting
- task taking
- task marking

For each stage the regulatory authorities have specified a certain level of control to ensure authenticity and reliability.

The controlled assessments are untiered and differentiation is by outcome.

The first assignment needs to cover the Study of Written Language (15%). Candidates must also present two Using Language (Writing) pieces, the first descriptive and the second narrative/expressive (7.5% each).

Unit 3: Studying written language

Candidates need to present one assignment which is a sustained response to an extended text. The text must either be a Shakespeare play or one chosen from the GCSE English Literature external assessment set text lists. This work will be worth 15% of the total mark and must be completed in two hours. Tasks chosen must be distinctly different from those attempted for the English Literature controlled assessment folder.

Task setting

WJEC will provide a list of general tasks which will be replaced every year. Centres may use one of the example tasks provided or adapt and contextualise a task to best suit their specific circumstances. It is important that the tasks are different from those chosen for the English Literature controlled assessment folder though they must be based on one of the texts chosen for the GCSE English Literature qualification or on a play by Shakespeare. It will not be possible for the task to be assessed orally. If a drama text is chosen, live and recorded versions may be used to support the study of the text but the assignment must be based on the written text. Tasks will be published on the WJEC secure website in the April of the year before the year candidates are entered for this unit.

Examples of tasks:

Generic task:

General task: Examine how your chosen novelist or playwright uses language to present a particular character. Refer closely to the text in your answer.

Examples of specific task:

1. Examine how Shakespeare presents the character of Tybalt in "Romeo and Juliet". Consider what is written and how it is written in your answer.
2. Examine how Harper Lee presents the character of Dill in "To Kill a Mockingbird". Consider what is written and how it is written in your answer.

Task taking

During the research and planning stage, which may extend to about 15 hours and which is distinct from the teaching and learning stage, candidates must work under limited supervision. They may make use of research materials in the preparation period and teachers may give advice of a general kind. In the research and planning stage students may work collaboratively.

During the assessment period which may last up to two hours candidates are allowed access to a clean copy of the text upon which they are writing. Candidates may take one A4 sheet of notes into the assessment session, but this must be checked to ensure it does not include a pre-prepared draft or outline response.

When the assessment period is divided into shorter periods of time, all candidates' work must be collected and retained securely within the centre between assessment sessions. Extra time will be allowed to those candidates who qualify for it under the existing regulations. Candidates must provide an individual response for assessment. They are not allowed access to dictionaries, thesauri and grammar and spell-check programs. The work may be handwritten or word-processed.

Unit 3: Writing (Using Language)

The Writing requirements will include a piece of descriptive writing and a narrative/expressive task based on the tasks supplied by WJEC.

Task setting

WJEC will provide a list of descriptive and narrative/expressive tasks from which the candidates must choose one from each category. Centres will be informed of the list of tasks via the secure website in the April of the year before the year candidates are entered for this unit. They will be replaced on an annual basis.

Examples of tasks:

Descriptive: Describe the scene on a beach or at a funfair.

Narrative/expressive: Memories; Write a story with the following title: Revenge

Task taking

During the research and preparation period under informal supervision, candidates may have access to resources and stimulus material relevant to the task. A note on the controlled assessment coversheet must indicate the level of support provided.

Final outcomes must be produced under formal supervision. Candidates are allowed up to two hours for the completion of the two Writing assignments (description and narrative/expressive writing). In the final assessment session, candidates may not have access to dictionaries, thesauri and spell check and grammar programs. The work may be presented in handwritten or word-processed form.

When the assessment period is divided into shorter periods of time, all candidates' work must be collected and retained securely within the centre between assessment sessions. Extra time will be allowed to those candidates who qualify for it under the existing regulations. Candidates must provide an individual response for assessment.

Task marking

Teachers are expected to mark the candidates' work using the assessment criteria provided by WJEC (see pages 15-19). Work must contain both in-text annotation and a summative comment. Each writing assignment will be marked out of 20; the reading assignment will be marked out of 40.

'Best fit' marking (studying written language)

The work for each unit should be marked by teachers according to the marking criteria using a 'best fit' approach. For each of the assessment objectives, teachers select one of the band descriptors that most closely describes the quality of the work being marked.

- where the candidate's work convincingly meets the statement, the highest mark should be awarded;
- where the candidate's work adequately meets the statement, the most appropriate mark in the middle range should be awarded;
- where the candidate's work just meets the statement, the lowest mark should be awarded.

Teachers should use the full range of marks available to them and award full marks in any band for work which fully meets that descriptor. The marks on either side of the middle mark(s) for 'adequately met' should be used where the standard is lower or higher than 'adequate' but not the highest or lowest mark in the band.

Marking should be positive, rewarding achievement rather than penalising failure or omissions. The award of marks must be directly related to the marking criteria.

Moderation will take place at two levels:

- Within the centre to ensure that a uniform standard has been applied across the teaching groups. There must be opportunities to exchange work and discuss criteria during the course: significant differences in the application of criteria and hence in rank-ordering will be difficult to resolve at the final assessment stage. One person must take responsibility for the final moderation procedure within a centre, sampling the work of each teaching group.
- Through the inspection of a sample of the work by WJEC moderators. The sample will be selected according to a formula set by WJEC, based on the centre's overall rank order. Details of this formula, contained in the Controlled Assessment Manual, will be sent to centres. For entries of up to 10 candidates, all folders will be sent. Further samples of work will be sent to the moderator if required. WJEC reserves the right to call in all of a centre's controlled assessment for re-assessment if this proves necessary.

Sample folders plus a sample marksheet will be submitted to the moderator at the appropriate time according to WJEC regulations. A coversheet must be completed for each student. Information on the coversheet must include: the student's name and examination number; the centre name and number; the title(s) of the task(s); the mark(s) for the task(s); a summative comment on the student's performance; an indication of the level of support. Each coversheet must be signed by the student and the teacher as a declaration that the work is totally the student's.

Incomplete folders

A folder that does not contain the appropriate number of assignments will be marked with a reduced total.

Students with disabilities

Students with disabilities will be allowed extra time in accordance with WJEC's regulations.

Authentication of controlled assessments

Candidates are required to sign that the work submitted is their own and teachers/assessors are required to confirm that the work assessed is solely that of the candidate concerned and was conducted under the required conditions. A copy of the authentication form, which forms part of the cover sheet for each candidate's work will be provided by WJEC. It is important to note that all candidates are required to sign this form, and not merely those whose work forms part of the sample submitted to the moderator. Malpractice discovered prior to the candidate signing the declaration of authentication need not be reported to WJEC but must be dealt with in accordance with the centre's internal procedures.

Before any work towards the controlled assessment is undertaken, the attention of candidates should be drawn to the relevant JCQ Notice to Candidates. This is available on the JCQ website (www.jcq.org.uk) and included in Instructions for Conducting Controlled Assessment. More detailed guidance on the prevention of plagiarism is given in Plagiarism in Examinations; Guidance for Teachers/Assessors also available on the JCQ website.

Unit 3 Assessment Criteria: Studying written language

Band	Read and understand texts, selecting material appropriate to purpose.	Develop and sustain interpretations of writers' ideas and perspectives.
0 marks	Nothing written, or what is written is totally irrelevant to text or not worthy of credit.
Band 1 1-7 marks	Candidates: make limited attempt to respond to whole texts; can identify in a limited way some aspects of content, characters or situation and will rely on narrative.	Candidates: show limited response to the main events of the whole text; show limited awareness of explicit meanings and ideas and significant features of characters.
Band 2 8-15 marks	Candidates: make some attempt to respond to texts; can identify some aspects of content, characters or situation, but may still rely on narrative.	Candidates: show response to significant characters, relationships and main events; show awareness of explicit meanings and ideas and significant features of characters.
Band 3 16-23 marks	Candidates: can describe the main ideas and themes; make a personal response; begin to select relevant and apt detail; begin to probe the sub-text.	Candidates: refer to specific aspects or details when justifying their views; show basic awareness of how texts achieve their effects through the writers' use of language.
Band 4 24-31 marks	Candidates: can understand and demonstrate how meaning and information are conveyed in texts; select and evaluate textual details appropriately; probe texts confidently.	Candidates: make personal and critical responses, referring to specific aspects of language, grammar and structure to justify their views; convey ideas clearly and appropriately.
Band 5 32-40 marks	Candidates: make cogent and critical responses; choose textual references carefully and are able to comment fully on the significance of particular words, phrases and stylistic features; make subtle and discriminating links.	Candidates: show originality of analysis and interpretation when evaluating patterns and details of words and images; are able to evaluate and comment on characters/relationships and attitudes/motives; at the highest level, consistently handle texts with confidence, have an overview and convey ideas cogently and make assured analysis of stylistic features.

Unit 3 Assessment Criteria: Using language (writing)

Writing assignment 1

Narrative Writing

0 marks: nothing written, or nothing worthy of credit

Content and organisation

(14 marks)

Band 1 1-4 marks

- basic sense of plot and characterisation
- simple chronological writing predominates
- narratives may have a beginning and an ending but content is likely to be undeveloped
- paragraphs may be used to show obvious divisions and to group ideas into some order and sequence
- limited range of vocabulary is used with little variation of word choice for meaning or effect

Band 2 5-7 marks

- some control of plot and characterisation (e.g. perspective is maintained)
- narrative is beginning to show evidence of some conscious construction (e.g. some appropriate use of dialogue; topic sentences are supported by relevant detail)
- there is an appropriate beginning and an apt conclusion
- narrative is developed to engage the reader's interest
- paragraphs are logically ordered and sequenced
- there is some range of vocabulary, occasionally selected to create effect or to convey precise meaning

Band 3 8-10 marks

- overall the writing is controlled and coherent
- plot and characterisation are convincingly sustained (e.g. dialogue helps to develop character)
- narrative is organised and sequenced purposefully
- narrative has shape, pace and detail, engaging the reader's interest
- detailed content is well organised within and between paragraphs
- paragraphs of varied length are linked by text connectives and progression is clear
- there is some use of devices to achieve particular effects
- there is a range of vocabulary selected to create effect or to convey precise meaning

Band 4 11-14 marks

- the writing is developed with originality and imagination
- plot and characterisation are effectively constructed and sustained
- material is selected and prioritised to maintain interest
- narrative is purposefully organised and sequenced and well paced
- paragraphs are effectively varied in length and structure to control detail and progression
- cohesion is reinforced by the use of text connectives and other linking devices
- devices to achieve particular effects are used consciously and effectively
- a wide range of appropriate, ambitious vocabulary is used to create effect or convey precise meaning
- confident and assured narrative which engages and holds the reader's interest

Sentence structure, punctuation and spelling

(6 marks)

0 marks: nothing written, or nothing worthy of creditBand 1 1-2 marks

- sentences are mostly simple or compound
- compound sentences are linked or sequenced by conjunctions such as 'and' or 'so'
- punctuation (full stops, commas, capital letters to demarcate sentences) is attempted where appropriate and with some accuracy
- the spelling of simple words is usually accurate
- control of tense and agreement is uneven

Band 2 3 marks

- sentences are varied and both compound and complex sentences are used
- there is use of some subordination to achieve clarity and economy
- some control of a range of punctuation, including the punctuation of direct speech
- the spelling of simple and polysyllabic words is usually accurate
- control of tense and agreement is generally secure

Band 3 4 marks

- a range of grammatical structures is used to vary the length and focus of sentences
- simple, compound and complex sentences are used to achieve particular effects
- a range of punctuation is used accurately to structure sentences and texts, sometimes to create deliberate effects, including parenthetical commas
- most spelling, including that of irregular words, is usually correct
- control of tense and agreement is secure

Band 4 5-6 marks

- there is appropriate and effective variation of sentence structures
- there is a sophisticated use of simple, compound and complex sentences to achieve particular effects
- accurate punctuation is used to vary pace, clarify meaning, avoid ambiguity and create deliberate effects
- virtually all spelling, including that of complex irregular words, is correct
- tense changes are used confidently and purposefully

It is presumed that candidates attaining Band 2 and above will have achieved the criteria listed in the previous band(s). Fine tuning of the mark within a band will be made on the basis of a 'best fit' procedure, weaknesses in some areas being compensated for by strengths in others.

Writing assignment 2

Descriptive writing

0 marks: nothing written, or nothing worthy of credit

Content and organisation

(14 marks)

Band 1 1-4 marks

- there is some relevant content despite uneven coverage, e.g. in descriptive writing there is a basic sense of place or atmosphere
- some features of organisation or form are appropriate
- paragraphs may be used to show obvious divisions and to group ideas into some order and sequence
- there is some appropriate selection of detail but often at a general level
- there is a limited range of vocabulary with little variation of word choice for meaning or effect

Band 2 5-7 marks

- content is relevant and attempts to interest the reader
- the writing is mostly organised in an appropriate form
- paragraphs are logically ordered and sequenced
- there is some attempt to focus on detail – moving from the general to the particular
- there is some range of vocabulary, occasionally selected to create effect or to convey precise meaning

Band 3 8-10 marks

- the content is relevant and coherent and engages and sustains the reader's interest
- the writing is organised in an appropriate form
- paragraphs are used consciously to structure the writing
- detailed content is well-organised within and between paragraphs
- there is a range of vocabulary selected to create effect or convey precise meaning

Band 4 11-14 marks

- content is well-judged, sustained and pertinent, firmly engaging the reader's interest
- the writing is well-crafted in an appropriate form with distinctive structural or stylistic features
- paragraphs are effectively varied in length and structure to control detail and progression
- there is a sophisticated organisation of detailed content within and between paragraphs
- a wide range of appropriate, ambitious vocabulary is used to create effect or convey precise meaning

Sentence structure, punctuation and spelling

(6 marks)

0 marks: nothing written, or nothing worthy of creditBand 1 1-2 marks

- sentences are mostly simple or compound
- compound sentences are linked or sequenced by conjunctions such as 'and' or 'so'
- punctuation (full stops, commas, capital letters to demarcate sentences) is attempted where appropriate and with some accuracy
- the spelling of simple words is usually accurate
- control of tense and agreement is uneven

Band 2 3 marks

- sentences are varied and both compound and complex sentences are used
- there is use of some subordination to achieve clarity and economy
- some control of a range of punctuation, including the punctuation of direct speech
- the spelling of simple and polysyllabic words is usually accurate
- control of tense and agreement is generally secure

Band 3 4 marks

- a range of grammatical structures is used to vary the length and focus of sentences
- simple, compound and complex sentences are used to achieve particular effects
- a range of punctuation is used accurately to structure sentences and texts, sometimes to create deliberate effects, including parenthetical commas
- most spelling, including that of irregular words, is usually correct
- control of tense and agreement is secure

Band 4 5-6 marks

- there is appropriate and effective variation of sentence structures
- there is a sophisticated use of simple, compound and complex sentences to achieve particular effects
- accurate punctuation is used to vary pace, clarify meaning, avoid ambiguity and create deliberate effects
- virtually all spelling, including that of complex irregular words, is correct
- tense changes are used confidently and purposefully

It is presumed that candidates attaining Band 2 and above will have achieved the criteria listed in the previous band(s). Fine tuning of the mark within a band will be made on the basis of a 'best fit' procedure, weaknesses in some areas being compensated for by strengths in others.

Unit 4: Speaking and Listening

The controlled assessment must contain at least three Speaking and Listening tasks. These should be based on the exploration of ideas, texts and issues in scripted and improvised work. The three tasks must cover the following areas:

- Communicating and adapting language
- Interacting and responding
- Creating and sustaining roles

This unit of work will be worth 20% of the total mark.

Task setting

Candidates are required to complete three speaking and listening tasks. Exemplar tasks will be provided by WJEC, but centres may design their own tasks to suit their centre-specific circumstances, providing these tasks follow the guidance from WJEC. Tasks should be replaced on a regular basis.

The tasks will need to cover the following:

- Presenting and listening to information and ideas
- Responding appropriately to the questions and views of others
- Making a range of effective contributions
- Reflecting and commenting critically on their own and others' use of language
- Participating in a range of real-life contexts in and beyond the classroom, adapting talk appropriately to situation and audience
- Selecting and using a range of dramatic techniques and creative approaches to explore ideas, texts and issues in scripted and improvised work

Centres must ensure that two tasks are of a functional nature. Details must be given on the Unit 4 activities form submitted by the end of November each year (see appendix).

Task taking

Candidates should complete all work under formal supervision. Preparation work may be completed under limited supervision. Candidates' access to resources such as stimulus material for discussions or role play and users of language beyond the classroom will be determined by the centre in line with WJEC guidelines.

Teacher support should be limited to explanation of tasks, details of which should be recorded as part of the assessment. If teacher intervention is used, for example to prompt or question a candidate, this should also be noted and taken into consideration when the assessment is made.

The work of individual candidates may be informed by working with others, for example in discussion groups and role-play activities, but each candidate must provide responses sufficient to be assessed individually.

It is expected that an individual response/presentation will last up to five minutes, although this might be longer if questions are asked. Group discussions and role play could be rather longer, depending on the nature of the topic and the ability of the candidates.

Task marking

Candidates should be assessed by a teacher either directly at the time of the response or by viewing an electronic visual recording of a candidate's response. Reference should be made to the criteria to place a candidate's response in the appropriate band area.

The three tasks must involve individual contributions, interaction and response to group discussion and creating and sustaining roles and two tasks must be of a functional nature.

The total mark will be reached by adding the three marks (out of 40) together, and then dividing by three to produce a final mark (also out of 40).

An outline of activities used in each teaching group must be submitted on the appropriate form (see appendix) to the consultative moderator by the end of November each year.

A sample of records for this unit will be submitted to the moderator in each January and June session where candidates are entered.

Moderation will take place at two levels:

1. Centres are required to ensure that internal moderation has taken place before final submission of marks, so that standards applied are in line with those established in exemplar material, and so that a reliable overall rank order has been established within the centre. Suitable methods of achieving this will depend on the individual centre's organisation and policy.
However, a sample of each teacher's candidates must be reassessed by another teacher.

Training DVDs will be produced on a regular basis. All staff teaching GCSE English must meet to discuss the training DVDs, as an aid to task setting, assessment, and standardisation of marking.

2. Statistical analysis of results in each component will be carried out each year. If an 'atypical profile' for the Speaking and Listening element is discovered the centre will be notified and discussion undertaken to clarify the situation. This could lead to an advisory visit or, in the most serious cases, a moderation visit.

Advisory visits will be made by Consultative Moderators, who will assess a group of candidates undertaking a range of tasks. The person responsible for internal moderation should also assess the same candidates. Discussion of marking standards will be an integral part of the visit. Should there be concerns, an additional visit could be made in the following year, or, for very serious cases, a formal moderation visit would be arranged.

Task Setting Guidance

The following suggestions indicate the type of controlled assessment tasks which may be set. There will be opportunities for centres to contextualise the tasks to best suit their centre-specific circumstances.

Centres must ensure that two of the three tasks are of a functional nature.

Communicating and adapting language:

- Give an account of a personal experience
- Present an argument in favour of or against a local issue
- Lead a challenging discussion, adapting language accordingly

Interacting and responding:

- Discussion of a familiar topic such as the need for school uniform
- Discussion of a less familiar topic such as a current news item or local issue
- Discussion arising from reading of a literary text such as interpretation of character
- Sustained discussion of a more complex topic such as environmental concerns

Creating and sustaining roles:

- Create a role in a familiar situation such as in a school or home environment
- Develop and sustain a role in a less familiar situation such as in a shop or office environment
- Create an improvisation as a pair or group based on one of the texts studied
- Create a complex character in a challenging role in an unfamiliar environment such as a council meeting or planning enquiry

These outline suggestions take some account of a range of ability and likely responses. The time-consuming nature of assessment of Speaking and Listening is recognised, and it is recommended that it is integrated into the course as a whole.

Training

N.B. Detailed guidelines for the conduct of advisory and moderation visits will be provided separately.

The assessment of Speaking and Listening will feature regularly on the agenda of the annual round of INSET meetings held in the Autumn Term. Reference will be made to exemplar material, including standardisation DVDs (see below). A representative from each centre will be expected to attend each year's meeting.

Advisory Visits:

Consultative Moderators will be appointed with responsibility for a group of centres. A programme of advisory visits will be arranged for the Autumn and Spring terms. These visits will cover:

- (a) Centres selected randomly so that all centres are visited at least once every three years.
- (b) Centres where statistical analysis of marks across all components in the previous year's examination reveals an atypical profile for Speaking and Listening.
- (c) Centres where the Consultative Moderator has concerns after an advisory visit in the previous year.

The emphasis of these visits will be on advice and guidance. The moderator will contact the centre to arrange a mutually convenient time for the visit, which will last about two hours and focus on a group of at least 6 students taking part in a Speaking and Listening assignment.

The format for the visit will be agreed between the centre and the moderator, to include the following aspects:

- (i) Discussion of marking standards, based upon assessment of a group of at least 6 students by a teacher (preferably the person responsible for internal moderation) and the moderator.
- (ii) Discussion of the content of the Speaking and Listening element of the course; methods of recording and of internal moderation.

Unit 4: Studying spoken language

The controlled assessment needs to cover the study of Spoken Language. This should be a sustained response to resources which may be their own or others' uses of Spoken Language presented by recording, transcript or recollection. This work will be worth 10% of the total mark.

Task setting

Candidates are required to complete a single written controlled assessment component in the study of Spoken Language. Each controlled assessment component may contain more than one task. Tasks must be selected from a number of comparable tasks provided by the Board. Guidance will be given on the use of source or research material, including access to users of language beyond the classroom. The tasks will be replaced each year.

The following suggestions indicate the type of controlled assessment which may be set. There will be opportunities for centres to contextualise the task to best suit their centre-specific circumstances. Specific details will be provided each year on the secure website, in the April of the year before the year candidates are entered for this unit.

Examples of tasks:

Generic tasks:

How spoken language is used in different contexts.

Candidates reflect and comment critically on their own and others' uses of language in some of the following situations:

- In the workplace
- On television
- In the classroom
- Problem solving (giving directions, explaining a procedure, making decisions)

How spoken language is adapted to different listeners.

Candidates explore how their own and others' uses of language is adapted in the contexts of wider language use and variation. The following situations would provide appropriate contexts:

- Responding to older or younger listeners
- Responding to people in authority
- Talking to peers and family
- Responding to strangers

The effects of choices in the use of standard and non-standard forms of spoken language.

Candidates demonstrate their understanding of the reasons for and effects of these choices, and how they may vary over time and place. The following pre-recorded material may offer appropriate opportunities:

- Material from BBC Voices – regional variations
- Standardising DVD (2006-2007) – Raj, Leanne and David role-play
- Standardising DVD (2008-2009) – Joanna’s presentation

Example of specific tasks:

Language use in different contexts (classroom example)

Through recording and transcribing classroom interaction or by close observation and note-making, show the importance of questioning skills in the classroom. (Questions can be used to bring the class to order, to make polite requests, to rebuke, to set the topic, to elicit information, to create a co-operative mood and to give commands. Questioning by both teachers and pupils can be included).

How spoken language is adapted to different listeners

In everyday life we adapt our spoken language to meet the expectations of other people. We adapt our speech to suit friends, older family members and younger brothers, sisters or cousins. Through recorded conversations and/or through close observation and note-making show how you adapt and change your vocabulary and voice depending on the listener. Choose two or more different listeners to show the range of your ways of speaking.

Standard and non-standard forms of speaking

In some situations we know that it is important to speak as correctly as possible. In other situations we take a more relaxed attitude. Sometimes we go out of our way to speak in a non-standard way. This can be by using a local regional dialect, a youth dialect, or the speech of a specific group. Record yourself and/or collect examples and contrast the non-standard speech with the equivalent standard forms (e.g. your anglo-welsh or other local dialect with standard English forms).

In setting tasks for the Spoken Language study, the Board is aware that a range of responses will be required to cover the grade range. This may be achieved by either offering a limited choice of tasks – which may be contextualised by centres – or a single task with opportunities for extension to accommodate the higher grades.

Task taking

During the research and planning stage, candidates must work under limited supervision. They may work collaboratively in discussion groups and research activities, but candidates must provide individual responses which are sufficient to be assessed. Candidates may make use of research materials in the preparation period, and teachers may give advice of a general kind. Detailed writing frames or draft responses to the task should not be used, although some general guidance may be given. Materials used at this stage should be submitted for assessment and moderation.

Final outcomes for candidates must be produced under formal supervision. Where the assessment period takes place over a number of sessions, all candidates' work (including research notes and any preliminary drafts) must be collected and retained securely within the centre between assessment sessions. Extra time will be allowed to those candidates who qualify for it under existing regulations.

It is expected that the final response to the assessed Spoken Language task may last up to two hours.

Task marking

Teachers are expected to mark the candidates' work using the assessment criteria provided by WJEC (see page 30). Work must contain both in-text annotation and a summative comment. The assignment will be marked out of 20.

Moderation will take place at two levels:

- (i) Within the centre to ensure that a uniform standard has been applied across the teaching groups. There must be opportunities to exchange work and discuss criteria during the course: significant differences in the application of criteria and hence in rank-ordering will be difficult to resolve at the final assessment stage. One person must take responsibility for the final moderation procedure within a centre, sampling the work of each teaching group.
- (ii) Through the inspection of a sample of the work by WJEC moderators. The sample will be selected according to a formula set by WJEC, based on the centre's overall rank order. Details of this formula, contained in the Coursework Manual, will be sent to centres. For entries of up to 10 candidates, all folders will be sent. Further samples of coursework will be sent to the moderator if required. The WJEC reserves the right to call in all of a centre's coursework for re-assessment if this proves necessary.

Sample folders plus a sample marksheet will be submitted to the moderator at the appropriate time according to WJEC regulations. A coversheet must be completed for each student. Information on the coversheet must include: the student's name and examination number; the centre name and number; the title of the task; the mark for the task; a summative comment on the student's performance; an indication of the level of support. Each coversheet must be signed by the student and the teacher as a declaration that the work is totally the student's.

Students with disabilities

Students with disabilities will be allowed extra time in accordance with WJEC's regulations.

Authentication of controlled assessments

Candidates are required to sign that the work submitted is their own and teachers/assessors are required to confirm that the work assessed is solely that of the candidate concerned and was conducted under the required conditions. A copy of the authentication form, which forms part of the cover sheet for each candidate's work will be provided by WJEC. It is important to note that all candidates are required to sign this form, and not merely those whose work forms part of the sample submitted to the moderator. Malpractice discovered prior to the candidate signing the declaration of authentication need not be reported to WJEC but must be dealt with in accordance with the centre's internal procedures.

Before any work towards the controlled assessment is undertaken, the attention of candidates should be drawn to the relevant JCQ Notice to Candidates. This is available on the JCQ website (www.jcq.org.uk) and included in Instructions for Conducting Controlled Assessment. More detailed guidance on the prevention of plagiarism is given in Plagiarism in Examinations; Guidance for Teachers/Assessors also available on the JCQ website.

Additional Guidance

In choosing tasks for Studying Written Language (Unit 3) and Studying Spoken Language (Unit 4), teachers will be aware of the ability of the candidates. Some tasks are more challenging than others and it would be wise to steer less able candidates towards those tasks which in they will be able to handle the material competently within the prescribed time limit.

There is no prescribed time limit for teaching and learning when preparing the text. However, QCDA have suggested that the preparation time for an assignment should be about 15 hours for a unit worth 20% of the final mark. This means that the English Language Studying Written Language and Using Language controlled assessment assignments could each be given about 11 hours of preparation time, and the Studying Spoken Language assignment about 8 hours. However, it is unlikely that the Using Language tasks will require so much time. During this period, the candidates can make suitable notes on their texts (Studying Written and Spoken Language) and plan out their approaches. At this stage the candidates will be able to consult their notes and the texts and any other relevant material. Worksheets and scaffolding are not permitted.

The final assessment session may be arranged in a number of ways. Candidates will have a maximum of two hours to complete their Studying Written Language assignment and a total of two hours for the Using Language essays. They have two hours for their Studying Spoken Language. This time may be broken into shorter sessions to fit into the lesson schedule. Alternatively, teachers may wish to arrange an assessment session in the school/college hall. The latter approach would have the advantage of ensuring that all the candidates complete their work under the same conditions. During the final assessment period, candidates are permitted to have with them one A4 sheet of notes for the reading assessment (see p.13), a "clean" copy of the literature text and research notes and texts in the Spoken Language unit. Once the assessment session is complete, candidates are not permitted to resubmit work. They may not take into the session any other notes – with the exception of Studying Spoken Language, where research notes are allowed.

Given that the time limit is relatively short, candidates will need to be focused on task from the onset of their writing. The controlled assessment regulations state that 'Mark schemes must provide suitable credit for precision and succinctness of expression'. Candidates who spend time on extraneous aspects, like biographical details in the Studying Written Language, will put themselves at a disadvantage. The assessment objectives for this part of the course require the students to 'Explain and evaluate how writers use linguistic, grammatical, structural and presentational features to achieve effects' and they are expected to support their comments with 'detailed textual references'.

The fact that the candidates are only allowed to take one A4 sheet of notes (see p.13) (Studying Written Language only) into the assessment session should eliminate the opportunity for plagiarism in Unit 3. However, it is important that teachers are aware that it may still occur. If plagiarism is discovered after the assessment session, it will not be possible for the candidate to rewrite the work and no marks will be awarded.

After the completion of the assessment session, the work will be marked in the normal way. Candidates may see their marked work but it is important that the essays are kept securely in the teacher's possession to prevent any tampering with the work. Towards the end of the course, all candidates must complete and sign the appropriate controlled assessment coversheet.

GRADE DESCRIPTIONS

Grade descriptions are provided to give a general indication of the standards of achievement likely to have been shown by candidates awarded particular grades. The descriptions must be interpreted in relation to the content specified by the specification; they are not designed to define that content. The grade awarded will depend in practice upon the extent to which the candidate has met the assessment objectives overall. Shortcomings in some aspects of the examination may be balanced by better performances in others.

Grade F

Candidates talk confidently in familiar situations, showing some awareness of purpose and of listeners' needs. They convey information, develop ideas and describe feelings clearly, using the main features of standard English as appropriate. They listen with concentration and make relevant responses to others' ideas and opinions. They show some awareness of how they and others use and adapt spoken language for specific purposes. In formal and creative activities, they attempt to meet the demands of different roles.

Candidates describe the main ideas, themes or argument in a range of texts, and refer to specific aspects or details when justifying their views. They make simple comparisons and cross-references that show some awareness of how texts achieve their effects through writers' use of linguistic, grammatical, structural and presentational devices.

Candidates' writing shows some adaptation of form and style for different tasks and purposes. It communicates simply and clearly with the reader. Sentences sequence events or ideas logically; vocabulary is sometimes chosen for variety and interest. Paragraphing is straightforward but effective; the structure of sentences, including some that are complex, is usually correct. Spelling and basic punctuation are mostly accurate.

Grade C

Candidates adapt their talk to the demands of different situations and contexts. They recognise when standard English is required and use it confidently. They use different sentence structures and select vocabulary so that information, ideas and feelings are communicated clearly and the listener's interest is engaged. They explain and evaluate how they and others use and adapt spoken language for specific purposes. Through careful listening and by developing their own and others' ideas, they make significant contributions to discussion and participate effectively in creative activities.

Candidates understand and demonstrate how meaning and information are conveyed in a range of texts. They make personal and critical responses, referring to specific aspects of language, grammar, structure and presentational devices to justify their views. They successfully compare and cross-reference aspects of texts and explain convincingly how they may vary in purpose and how they achieve different effects.

Candidates' writing shows successful adaptation of form and style to different tasks and for various purposes. They use a range of sentence structures and varied vocabulary to create different effects and engage the reader's interest. Paragraphing is used effectively to make the sequence of events or development of ideas coherent and clear to the reader. Sentence structures are varied; punctuation and spelling are accurate and sometimes bold.

Grade A

Candidates select suitable styles and registers of spoken English for a range of situations and contexts, showing assured use of standard English where appropriate. They confidently vary sentence structures and choose from a broad repertoire of vocabulary to express information, ideas and feelings in an engaging manner. They explain expertly, and evaluate persuasively, how they and others use and adapt spoken language for specific purposes. They initiate conversations and demonstrate sensitive listening through contributions that sustain and develop discussion. They recognise and fulfil the demands of different roles, whether in formal settings or creative activities.

Candidates respond personally and persuasively to a variety of texts, developing interpretations and evaluating how details of language, grammar, structure and presentation engage and affect the reader. They identify and discuss writers' perspectives in narrative, argument, explanation or analysis. They choose apt quotations and make telling comparisons and cross-references that illuminate the purpose and meanings of texts.

Candidates' writing shows confident, assured control of a range of forms and styles appropriate to task and purpose. Texts engage and hold the reader's interest through logical argument, persuasive force or creative delight. Linguistic and structural features are used skilfully to sequence texts and achieve coherence. A wide range of accurate sentence structures ensures clarity; choices of vocabulary, punctuation and spelling are ambitious, imaginative and correct.

THE WIDER CURRICULUM

Key Skills, Functional Skills and Essential Skills (Wales)

GCSE English Language will provide a range of opportunities for developing these skills, whether in preparation for functional skills assessments or to provide contexts in which evidence for key skills or essential skills (Wales) portfolios may be produced. The following key/essential skills can be developed through this specification at levels 1 and 2:

- Communication
- Information and Communication Technology
- Problem Solving
- Working with Others
- Improving Own Learning and Performance

Mapping of opportunities for the development of these skills against key/essential skills evidence requirements at level 2 is provided in 'Exemplification of Key/Essential Skills for English Language', available on the WJEC website.

Opportunities for use of technology

Candidates may word process their controlled assessment assignments. This will provide opportunities to use layout to enhance communication.

The specification also gives candidates the opportunity to be assessed on their reading of ICT-based information, and thus develop the mature and critical use of documents on the internet and in other non-print based media.

Spiritual, Moral, Ethical, Social and Cultural Issues

English Language is a subject that requires candidates to consider the point of view of others, in both written and spoken forms. This they will do both inside and outside the classroom.

This specification supports this through the requirements for the assessment of Reading. Candidates will develop critical and analytical skills in their study of literary, non-literary, and media texts.

Candidates will also have opportunities to reflect on their reading, their own wider experience, and the experience of others, in both written and oral form. They will also be required to reflect on a range of spiritual, moral, ethical, social, and cultural issues in classroom discussion and in writing.

Citizenship

The specification gives candidates opportunities to develop the skills of critical and analytical reading and listening. It also allows them to both express and develop their point of view in writing and speaking, whilst encouraging them to consider critically and constructively the views of others. This ability to make informed and considered judgements is a skill vital in the development of individual citizenship.

This specification also underpins the development of a range of Key Skills which are of vital importance to individuals in the wider world.

Environmental Issues

This specification affords candidates the opportunity to read about, write about, and discuss environmental issues.

Health and Safety Consideration

There are no Health and Safety issues associated with the requirements of this specification.

The European Dimension

A proficiency in written and spoken English and good reading and listening skills, are essential not just in England, but also in the wider context of Europe and the world. This specification supports the development of these skills, and provides opportunities for assessment of them in a range of contexts.

This specification also allows candidates to read about, write about, and discuss a range of contemporary issues, which may well require or extend an awareness of the European dimension.

8

APPENDICESFlexibility of entry

In England, by end of year 11 candidates in maintained schools may be entered for EITHER GCSE English OR GCSE English Language and GCSE English Literature. No candidate may be entered for GCSE English with either GCSE English Literature or GCSE English Language.

GCSE English is not available to candidates in Wales.

In order to facilitate flexibility of entry WJEC specifications in the three subjects (GCSE English, GCSE English Language, GCSE English Literature) contain certain common aspects:

- GCSE English and GCSE English Language controlled assessment reading tasks will be based on texts from the GCSE English Literature external assessment prescribed list
- The GCSE English and GCSE English Language external assessment examination papers (reading/writing) are common to both subjects.
- GCSE English and GCSE English Language controlled assessment Speaking and Listening requirements are similar in the two subjects.

The following conditions apply to the entry and reporting arrangements for these subjects:

- Candidates entered for GCSE English may not be entered at the same series for either GCSE English Language or GCSE English Literature.

England

- In England pre-16 candidates entered for GCSE English Language must also be entered for GCSE English Literature. (Achievement in English Language will only be included in performance tables that record the achievement of 5 or more GCSEs including English and Mathematics if students are also entered for English Literature.)

Wales

- GCSE English is not available in Wales. Centres can meet the statutory requirements fully through entering pre-16 candidates for both GCSE English Language and GCSE English Literature. For the minority of candidates entered only for GCSE English Language, centres should ensure their taught curriculum fulfils statutory requirements.

Northern Ireland

- GCSE English is not available in Northern Ireland. Centres can meet the statutory requirements fully through entering pre-16 candidates for both GCSE English Language and GCSE English Literature. For the minority of candidates entered only for GCSE English Language, centres should ensure their taught curriculum fulfils statutory requirements.

SPEAKING AND LISTENING: OUTLINE OF ACTIVITIES

GCSE Eng/Eng Lang

Unit 4

Centre Name _____ Centre No. _____

Teacher's Name _____

Please read the notes overleaf before completing this form.

Outline below three activities which will be used as evidence for the assessment of Speaking and Listening in your teaching group. Please number them 1-3. To meet specification requirements one of these activities must involve communicating and adapting language; one must involve interacting and responding; one must involve creating and sustaining roles. Two activities must involve tasks of a functional nature; one activity must be on a non-functional task.

Forms (one per teaching group) must be returned to the consultative Speaking and Listening Moderator by 30 November.

Signed _____ Date _____

PLEASE COMPLETE THE TABLE OVERLEAF TO INDICATE HOW ACTIVITIES FULFIL CRITERIA

Notes

1. In view of the range of work which may contribute to the assessment of Speaking and Listening, you are asked to outline three activities which you expect to be used as evidence for this assessment, rather than to make a comprehensive list. You may include work still to be undertaken.
2. Where appropriate, the activity should be briefly contextualised.

Content	Activity number*	Functional coverage	Activity number*
Communicating and adapting language		Functional 1
Interacting and responding		Functional 2
Creating and sustaining roles		Non-Functional

*Please enter number of activity (as listed overleaf) which fulfils each context or purpose coverage requirement.
